THE DIRECT TRADE MOVEMENT IN SAVANNAH.—A short while back, it will be remembered, our Savannah citizens held a meeting to take steps to form a steamship line with Bremen, Prussia. On the 22d the committee appointed, reported through Gen. Jos. E. Johnston, as follows:

The Committee appointed to report on the comparative fitness of Savannah and other Southern towns to be the American port of a line of steamships to ply between the North German Confederation and our Southern States, have given the subject full consideration, and have come to the unanimous conclusion, that in the essentials of geographical position, commodiousness of harbor, and railroad communication with the interior, this city has decided advantages for such a purpose over any other Southern port.

These advantages have given Savannah a foreign trade, especially in cotton, larger than that of any other of our Southern Atlantic seaports. In this connection your attention is invited to the last report of the United States Collector of the Port, by which it will be seen that the burthen of vessels, foreign and American, that have loaded at the wharves of Savannah during the year ending June 30, 1869, amounted to 1,120,834 tons, and that those vessels were manned by 22,100 seamen, and the value of its exports the same year amounted to $33,336 494, including $21,411,880, the value of 172,450 bales of cotton shipped to foreign countries. Its harbor is the best on the Atlantic coast south of Norfolk, having a depth of 26 feet at high, and 19 feet at low water. In addition to the improvements of the rivers already effected, the municipal authorities are about to deepen the ship channel between the bar and the city, so as to afford easy approach to the largest class of vessels that may seek access to our port.

Its communications by railroad with all parts of the Mississippi Valley, south of the Ohio, are shorter and more agreeable for mildness of climate than those of any other Atlantic city, and the liberality and public spirit of those who control those roads, will make transportation cheaper also. By the Atlantic and Gulf Railroad travelers, immigrations and merchandize can now reach Florida and Southern Georgia as expeditiously and as cheap as by any other emigrant routes in the United States. By the Central Railroad and its connections is 670 miles to Vicksburg. This is the shortest distance between any Atlantic port and the Mississippi. An extension of this line to Marshall, Texas, is now in progress. The future importance of this route is fully set forth in the following:

REPORT.

The committee appointed to attend the Commercial Convention, at Memphis, report, as the result of the deliberations of that body, the selection of the thirty-second parallel of latitude as the proper line for the location of the Southern Pacific Railroad. This proposed route starts from San Diego, on the Pacific coast, and runs eastwardly along the line of the thirty-second degree to some convenient point east of the Brazos river, in Texas, near Dallas or Marshall, directly west of, and not far removed from Shreveport, in the State of Louisiana. From these proposed terminal points the shortest and most direct line to the Atlantic coast, lies along the thirty-second parallel of latitude, along which is already constructed a continuous and almost unbroken track of railway from Marshall, Texas, to Savannah via Vicksburg, on the Mississippi river. The line of railroads from Marshall, Texas, to Savannah, lies wholly between the thirty-second and thirty-third parallels of latitude, and is represented to exhibit less deviation from a direct course than the same extent of railroad in this or any other country.

On the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce, of New Orleans, a portion of your Committee attended the Convention in that city, and have to report a like result in the location of the line of the Southern Pacific Railroad as that agreed upon at Memphis. The line thus distantly recommended by the respective Conventions is said to be in accord with the views of the Government authorities at Washington.

* * * * * * *

By the Central, Memphis and Charleston and intermediate roads, it is 740 miles to Memphis; the distance from that point to Charleston and Norfolk are respectively 15 and 219 miles greater, but a projected railroad from Griffin to Decatur will increase this difference in favor of Savannah by 60 or 70 miles.

By a line of railroads diverging from that to Memphis at Stevenson, it is 582 miles from Savannah to Nashville; 762 to the Mississippi at Columbus, and 968 to St. Louis; the last distance being 130 miles less than that from New York. The mildness of the climate of the region in which the Southern route lies is, however, a much greater advantage than the difference of distance. The Atlantic and Gulf and the lines of railroad to Vicksburg and Memphis, lie in districts of country that contribute a very large part of the cotton exported by the United States, and the rich country in Tennessee and Kentucky, north and west of Nashville produce a very great quantity of tobacco. It is considered that a line of steamships from this port in conjunction with the railroads described would form a better mode of transporting those articles of trade than others now used or practicable, it is equally certain that the ships carrying these products of the South to Germany would bring back to us German manufactures.

Norfolk is 219 miles further than Savannah from any point beyond Chattanooga towards Nashville or Memphis and Charleston 15; and there are 26 feet at high and 19 at low water on the Savannah bar, and 16 3-12 at high and 11 at low water on that of Charleston.

Charleston is also 90 miles further than Savannah by railroad from all points in Alabama and Mississippi. European emigrants can find productive lands as cheap in the South as in the Northwest in a climate so mild that farmers may labor in the fields at all seasons, and by such a line of steamships, and the four routes from Savannah described above, they could travel to those lands at less expense and discomfort than to the North-Western States.

Letters are appended from the Central and Gulf Railroad authorities, offering to transport emigrants to the interior for the lowest possible fare, not exceeding one cent per mile.

The report was adopted and directed to be forwarded to Major H. Hirsch, at Berlin.

The foregoing was taken from the Savannah News.

But who are these twenty Democrats who want the Legislature called together? Will Col. Avery, of the Atlanta CONSTITUTION, please give us the information? Our people want to know who they are.—Early County News.

Not one have we been able to find. As the Macon Telegraph gave the item, it certainly can tell. We know this, however, that several Democrats that were supposed to be meant, deny the thing wholly.

The Floyd Grand Jury condemn the "too general and indiscriminate use of the pardoning power," by Governor Bullock. It expresses the kindest feeling for the negro. It urges action on education.—Home Courier.

BLODGETT'S HOME BONDSMAN.—In answer to the call of our confrere of THE CONSTITUTION, we would say in regard to the pecuniary responsibility of Mr. Geo. P. Burnett, who is our fellow citizen and a clever man, that he has been a successful business man, but the casualities of the war and heavy losses by fire since, and perhaps other things, have so embarrassed his financial affairs, that his name gives no additional strength to the bond above alluded to.—Ibid.

STATE CORRESPONDENCE.

Educational Notes—The Clayton High School—Unique Features—Prof. Candler a Representative Man.

A school, so far representative of our State, as the "Clayton High School" which, besides Alabama and Florida, has on its catalogue, which I have just received, the names of pupils from thirty-three Georgia counties, is worthy of attention out of proportion to its modest pretensions. It is the largest school of its grade in the State. Since the departure of Prof. Looney, Prof. Candler has had exclusive charge of the institution, assisted in the mathematical department by J. A. Casswell, and in the musical by Prof. Wm. Fisher. The total attendance last year was of gentlemen 109 and ladies 86.

The course of study is largely elected; every branch of pure and mixed mathematics, surveying, and civil engineering is taught by approved text-books and practically with instruments. Attention is given in Greek and Latin languages, and literature, and systematic exegetical lectures are regularly delivered. The Physical Sciences and Belles Letters, Instrumental and Vocal Music, receive due attention, and the Commercial School is a prominent feature. Especial students who desire it, can have instruction in all the modern languages generally taught.

The teachers in this Institution are Georgians by birth and education, and have never had any but Georgians associated with them. A long experience of professional work in the State has given them an exceedingly correct apprehension of its wants, and they seem to be singularly successful in adopting their efforts to our, in some respects, singular requirements.

Jonesboro, where it is located, seems to be a very bright and healthy place, and from its central position on the Macon and Western Railroad it invites visitors. Just now Boston reminds one of Jonesboro, for in neither place can one discover the flavor of gin and tansy. "Such a thing," says our emphatic friend, "as an intoxicated student was never seen in Jonesboro."

The literary society is composed of a voluntary membership, which, however, enforces regular attendance. The discipline of the College is religious, without being sectarian. The next term opens August 2d, and continues sixteen weeks. Long life to the Jonesboro High School, where the profits of the school are centralized in the benefit of the students.

"EARNEST."

DALTON, GA., July 24, 1869.

Col. Avery—Dear Sir: Corn crop suffering materially for rain. We have not had a season in this immediate neighborhood for seven weeks. Yours truly,

MORE PRESENTS.

Grant and the Democratic Irishwoman.

An old Irishwoman, well known on the pier, went up to the President, shook hands with him, and taking from her orange basket two as good oranges as she could find among the fair from tempting collection, thrust them into the President's hand, and insisted on him excepting them. The act caused considerable merriment among the bystanders, but General Grant did not seem to appreciate the joke. He looked first at the oranges, which had seen better days, and then with a bewildered expression at the genial looking, voluble old woman, and, after a little time, comprehending that she meant these treasures from her humble store as a present to him, put them in his pocket. He then ascended to the upper deck and sat down beside his wife and daughter. The old Irishwoman was enthusiastic over the little event in which she had been a prominent figure, and amid the laughter of the crowd cried out in the same breath—"Musha, but he's a rale fine looking gintleman intirely"—here yees are, four beautiful oranges for tin cints." This was followed by "shure I shook hands wid the President, so I did," on which a wag in the crowd cried out, "A nice thing for a democrat like you to shake hands with a republican like him." This blow at her devotion to principle seemed to stagger her for a moment, but recovering her presence of mind, she retorted, "Divil a bit of black republican blood in his body!" The crowd laughed loudly, and the old woman, evidently feeling that she had not yet redeemed herself in the eyes of the great "democracy," exclaimed, "Shure, Andy Johnson was the rale pure dimocrat entirely! And, till he was [illegible] a man!"

Grant's Perquisites—Salary All Something Accounts.

The salary of the President, as prescribed by law, is $25,000 per annum. His "perquisits," beyond a mansion, furniture, a most spacious garden and pasture enough for all the cattle of the Duke of Devonshire, and for all the fine horses of the Duke of Newcastle, are—servants ad libitum, clerks and employees to the extent of a depletion of the army—and presents of all kinds from his "fellow-citizens" at home and abroad. Two orders of his, since he has been rusticating at Long Branch, tell a significant story. That to the Secretary of the Interior is laconic. It is simply to see that his two favorite mares are properly "shod," and sent on. Upon inquiry I find that the mere "shoeing" of a couple of horses should not cost more than a "ten dollar greenback, but the word "shod," like Littleton's "etc." in Coke's Commentaries, is made to mean by the sycophantic Secretary a great deal. In short, this business of "shoeing" and "sending on" these animals will cost the United States more than three thousand dollars as per calculation at the Department of the Interior, although Secretary Cox certifies that he "carried them with his own hand."—Cor. Baltimore Gazette.

LO! THE POOR INDIAN.—In the account of the Dartmouth College Commencement, at Hanover, New Hampshire, we find the following testimony to the uncivilizability of the Indian:

There is not an Indian student in the College to-day, although a fund was early set apart and is still in existence, amounting at present to about $700 per annum, for the free education of Indian youth. Several have entered the College during the last twenty years, but in scarcely a single instance have they stayed through the course, and in most cases, after stopping here a year or two, they go back to their tribes and resume the Indian life. The last one they had, stayed a year or so, and, being found incompetent to go with his class, was sent down to Meriden Academy, a few miles below here, to fit for college, and remains there yet.

LONDON.—The area of London, including the villages in the suburbs, amounts to 78,000 acres, or very nearly 122 square miles. This is London as defined by the Registrar General of vital statistics, and includes Hampstead, Kentish Town and Stoke Newington on the north; Wandsworth, Notwood and Sydenham on the east, and Kensington, Hammersmith and Fulham on the west. On this area, including these suburbs, stand over 400 000 inhabited houses, with an average of nearly eight persons to a house, giving a mean density of forty persons to each acre. The population of London, in 1868, is only based on estimates, no census having been taken since 1861; but by taking the average annual increase which prevailed between 1841 and 1861, it is believed that the number of inhabitants amount to 3,120,635 souls. The county rate assessment of 1866 placed the annual income derived from property in London at 76,309,905. The elevation of London varies from eleven feet below high water mark to 429 feet above high water mark at Hampstead. The population resides at a mean elevation of 39 feet above high water mark. After Hampstead, the most considerable elevations in London are Shooter's Hill, 411 feet, and Sydenham Hill, 360 feet above high water mark.

HOW THE CABLE RESTS.—The cable, as now laid, starts in very shallow water from Minor bay, but in four or five it deepens from seventeen to twenty fathoms (a fathom is six feet), and then gradually shelves from thirty to sixty-eight and ninety fathoms. At this level, but on the whole gradually deepening, it continues still in a line with the westernmost part of the Irish coast, where, taking a northern course, it passes down a gentle slope of sand that continues descending till the depth increases from 200 to 800 and 900 fathoms, and then in a short distance to 1700 fathoms. Over all the rest of the course to mid-ocean the bottom is mud, shells, and sand, and with a uniform depth of about 2,000 to 2,200 fathoms.

All these great depths there is an absolute cessation of all motion. Over such a bottom the line is taken in an arc of a large circle, the most southerly point of the cable being in forty-two degrees north latitude, and the most northerly forty-eight degrees. Along the southern end of the Newfoundland bank it is sunk in about 150 to 200 fathoms, the water on the bank itself varying from fifty to ninety fathoms. Thus it is completely sheltered from ice, which, if the icebergs pass the bank at all, must clear the cable, which lies under its lee, by some hundred fathoms or more. From this point it is taken up due north in the channel between the Green bank and the St. Pierre bank in an almost unvarying depth of 500 fathoms. From this point out, the course is over very regular shoal water, so to speak—being in no part less than one hundred fathoms, and generally over one hundred and fifty—to its termination.

☞ A Princess of Muscovite blood—a rare beauty—was recently arrested on the frontiers when coming from Spa. The stupid gendarme insisted that she was merely a soldier dressed as a woman, and a deserter he had orders to look after. She was being conveyed to prison, neither her beauty nor her chignon prevailing to prove her sex, when she was compelled to be heroic to escape the affront. Those only who have seen the pretty portraits of Agnes Sorrel, the gentle mistress of Charles VII., will ever divine how she achieved her victory over the gendarme, and sent him home a better and a wiser man.

☞ Wendell Phillips says he would rather be Pemberton surrendering his army than Grant in the White House. This suggests the school-boy dilemma, "Would you rather be a greater ass than you look, or look a greater ass than you are?" For as smart a man as he is, Wendell P. says more foolish things than any man we know.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION

Official Journal of the City.

MORNING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::::::::JULY 28.

☞ Blackwood for July, contains: "A Year and a Day; Recollections of Lord Byron; Sketches in Polynesia; Morris' Poems; Earthquakes and Volcanoes; Story of Eulenburg; The Church Bill in the Lords.

PERSONAL.—We had the pleasure of a call from Brothers Shecut, of the Madison Farm Journal, and Atkinson, of the Athens Banner. The latter gentleman we used to know far back many years, when he was the editor of that sprightly Daily, the Augusta Dispatch. We were glad to meet our old friend. He gives a good account of his fine Weekly.

☞ Reading matter on every page.

☞ Our worthy brother Willingham, pays us the following compliment, for which we thank him kindly:

If our CONSTITUTION-al friends don't mind they'll lose the publication of the Governor's proclamations. We are glad to know, however, that the CONSTITUTION is able to survive without his patronage, and that it would scorn to live upon it at the sacrifice of principle. The CONSTITUTION is in a condition, and published in a location, to do the people some service in the exposition of the corruption prevailing around it. It will do its duty.

The course that we have laid off is one of dignified, truthful, unpurchasable journalism, that will omit no honest opinion for anybody's patronage, while as a matter of business it takes all that legitimately comes to it.

We have a sharp eye on the State government, and we shall strike its wrongs whenever we see them, no matter who it hurts or what we lose by it.

The Southern Railway.

B. F. Bedinger, Democratic nominee for the Kentucky Legislature from Kenton county, opposite Cincinnati, is much exercised about the new great railroad route from Cincinnati to Chattanooga.

He says Cincinnati is forbidden by its charter to subscribe one dollar to any incorporated company. Yet it proposes to build a railroad, with hardly one foot on its State soil, that shall run through two other States, costing twenty millions or more of money, and employing armies of laborers. It has asked no charter from Kentucky, and it is said don't mean to. He wants to know if it depends on buying private right of way? He is opposed to allowing the railroad to run through Kentucky unless Cincinnati will help Kentucky get one hundred millions of dollars for her slaves, freed by the Federal Government.

That Libel.

ON DIT.—We hear it rumored that Rufus R. Bullock is about instituting a suit against the Atlanta CONSTITUTION for slander—laying his damages at $30,000.—Rome Courier.

Our friend is informed that the above report, as we can learn, is all a fiction. We believe the paragraph upon which the rumor was based, was the following, that appeared in our local columns of the 16th.

A BANKRUPT GOVERNOR.—Several weeks ago, a note was drawn by T. G. Campbell, Sr., for $250, and endorsed by Rufus B. Bullock, was hawked about the streets, and could not be disposed of at five cents on the dollar, until it was endorsed by a responsible party. The note was given to pay Campbell for services in Washington, in trying to get Georgia out of the Union.

Our local got up the item, having every reason to believe its truth.

Our cotemporary is correct, that the CONSTITUTION means to tell the whole truth fearlessly. That is our mission, and our friends may look at all times for our bold ventilation of all public wrongs.

THE CONSTITUTION, however, with all its resolute Democracy, will be fair and just to Governor Bullock, despite irreconcilable differences of opinion, both political and personal, with him.

Upon enquiry, we find that our local erred somewhat, that the note was given for Campbell's board in Atlanta, and not due until next January, that it has not been endorsed by any other person than Gov. Bullock, and was offered for sale but found no purchaser. Of his private means we know nothing. It would be just for papers that have copied these things to correct them.

The Irish Church Bill.

This momentous measure has gone through several exciting phases in the last few days.

The Lords sent the Bill to the Commons disfigured with amendments, and botched out of all proportion. One feature in particular grafted on it by the peers, was to dispose of some $50,000,000 for the benefit of the disestablished Church, when the surplus property was only about $35,000,000 as estimated by Mr. Gladstone.

The Commons met the issue boldly, voted down promptly the objectionable amendments, and sent back the bill to the peers, denuded of its grotesque embellishments.

The peers contended hotly, and finally, after a long and fiery discussion, rejected the preamble, which did not contain their above feature for grasping the Church property. The excitement was intense. The ministry stood firm. Gladstone did not waver. The people seethed with hostility to the Lords. The press, with unmeasured audacity, attacked the peers and threatened them with popular retribution. It was a trying time, and the situation was fraught with danger to the aristocratic order. The more sagacious and prudent of the nobles saw the ominous portent, and counselled concession to the threatening storm.

A compromise was finally arranged. The original date of the disestablishment, January 12, 1871, was inserted, the property question was left over, none of the surplus to be used save by consent of parliament.

The Lords have acted with wisdom. The final success of the measure was inevitable. Their rejection of it would have but resulted in Gladstone's withdrawing the bill and appealing to the people; and the very existence of the noble order was involved in such a movement. The bill passed, the Commons yielding a little to soothe the Lords, and the Queen has approved it.

Disestablishment is, therefore, the law of England.

DECISIONS
OF THE
SUPREME COURT OF GEORGIA

Delivered at Atlanta, Tuesday, July 27.

[REPORTED EXPRESSLY FOR THE CONSTITUTION, BY N. J. HAMMOND, SUPREME COURT REPORTER.]

Kitty Brown, plaintiff in error, vs. Wm. Wright, et al., defendants in error. Motion for new trial from DeKalb.

BROWN, C. J.

1. A guardian who acted with the caution of a prudent man, and loaned the money of his wards, prior to the adoption of the Code, first of January, 1863, and took a note well secured, by a mortgage upon negro property, which was lost by reason of the emancipation of the slaves, is not liable to his wards for the amount so lost.

2. A guardian who acted in good faith, and received Confederate Treasury notes in payment of debts, due his wards, at a time when prudent men generally received them, in payment of all debts due, acted under color of law, and is protected by the act of 1866; and the Ordinances of the Conventions of 1865, and 1868. And if he loaned out the funds, so received prior to 1st of January, 1863, upon what was at the time good security, and they were afterwards lost, by the results of the war, he is not liable.

3. A guardian who loaned out or invested the funds belonging to his wards, after the adoption of the Code, without an order of Court, did so at his own risk, unless the investment was, in the stocks, bonds or other securities, authorized by law, and he is liable for the value of the money or currency received by him, and so invested or loaned, allowing him a reasonable time to invest it, whether he lost it or not.

4. Where the guardian loaned out the money of his wards, after the adoption of the Code, without an order of Court, and took a note for $1,500 for its repayment, and the Court on the trial refused to allow the note to be read in evidence, because it was not stamped. Held: That the Court did not err, as the guardian was liable in any event in such case, for the value of the currency when received, allowing him a reasonable time to re-invest, and the note whether stamped or not, was properly rejected.

Judgment reversed.

Wm. Ezzard, for plaintiff in error.

Hill & Candler, for defendants in error.

Ellen D. Dicken, plaintiff in error, vs. H. T. Dicken, defendant in error. Action for divorce, and motion for temporary alimony, from Spalding.

BROWN, C. J.

1. On the hearing of a motion for temporary alimony, pending an action for divorce, the merits of the cause are not to issue. But under section 1735 of the Code the Judge in fixing the amount of alimony, may inquire into the cause and circumstances of the separation, rendering the alimony necessary, and in his discretion may refuse it altogether; or he may grant such alimony, including the expenses of the litigation, as the condition of the husband, and the facts of the case may justify. But the Judge should exercise a sound discretion; and should be careful, that he does not so use this discretionary power, as to encourage the separation of husbands and wives, and increase litigation of this character.

2. After looking into the cause and circumstances of this separation, we are satisfied the Judge did not abuse the discretion vested in him by the statute.

Judgment affirmed.

Boynton & Dismuke for plaintiff in error.

D. J. Bailey for defendant in error.

Martha F. Smith, plaintiff in error, vs. Thomas J. Granberry, defendant in error. Injunction from Monroe.

BROWN, C. J.

1. The will of James Hogan gave to his wife, during her natural life, all his estate, both real and personal, and at her death, the estate, with the increase, to be equally divided, and one-half given by his executors to the lawful heirs of the body of one of his daughters, and the use of the other half to his other daughter during her natural life, and at her death to go to the lawful heirs of her body. The will then contains this clause: "If my wife should, at any time, think proper to give any portion of my estate, thus bequeathed, to the legatees above named, I wish her to do so only at her own discretion, through and by my executors." Held, that the assent of the qualified executor to the life estate of Mrs. Hogan, did not divest him of further control over the estate. But at her death, it was the right and duty of the executor to take possession of the estate, with its increase, if any, and to administer it according to the directions in the will; and as there were no specific legacies, the ordinary, on the application of the executor, had jurisdiction to order a sale for the purposes of distribution in conformity to the will; the vested interest of each remainderman, being an interest in a certain proportion of the estate, and not a vested interest in any particular tract of land or piece of personal property.

2. The executor, after the death of the widow, having taken possession of the lands of the estate, and having obtained an order from the ordinary for the sale of the same for the purpose of distribution among the legatees, and after legal advertisement, he having sold the same at the proper time and place, and having through A purchased the land at his own sale, and after making a deed to A, the land, on the second day thereafter, having been reconveyed to him by A, by regular deed. Held, that the purchase by the executor was not void, but was only voidable at the option of the legatees; provided, they so elected within a reasonable time. And the executor after said sale having claimed and occupied the land as his own, thereby acquired an adverse possession of the same, and a tenant placed upon the land by the executor after his purchase, was his tenant, and such tenant could not change his landlord by attorning to the administrator de bonis non of the estate of Hogan.

3. The executor, after his purchase, while he had a tenant upon the land, entered into a marriage contract with the plaintiff in error, and conveyed to her a life estate, after his death, in consideration of marriage, without notice to her of the nature of his purchase; the marriage was then solemnized, and in a few months he died, leaving the tenant upon the premises, and his widow commenced action against the tenant for the rent, and a proceeding to dispossess the tenant holding over. Held, that the tenant became her tenant on the death of her husband, and the administrator de bonis non of the estate of Hogan had no right to interfere in this litigation, or to maintain a bill in equity to enjoin her action against the tenant; the more especially as she resided in Bibb county, and the litigation between her and her tenant was pending in Monroe, where the bill was filed. If he, or the legatees of Hogan, had paramount title, the litigation between plaintiff in error and her tenant did not in any way interfere with their right to commence their action of ejectment, or other proper proceeding for the recovery of the land. Judgment reversed.

WARNER, J., concurred in the Judgment, but not in the reversing of the Court. He furnished no written decision.

McCAY, J., concurred in the Judgment for the following reasons:

1. If property be demised to A for life with remainder to B and C, and the executor deliver possession of the estate to A, who enters upon the full enjoyment of the life estate, he holds it for herself and the remaindermen. And any duty, (as to divide the estate, or the like), put upon the executor, by the will, after the termination of the life estate, is a special trust, and forms no part of his duty as executor, and the supervision of it does not belong to the Court of Ordinary, but to the Superior Court.

2. Where one is in adverse possession of land, against the true owner, and rents it to a tenant, avowedly, in his character of adverse holder, the tenant cannot attorn to the true owner, or deny the adverse possession of his landlord.

Lanier & Anderson, R. P. Trippe, for plaintiff in error.

Cabaniss & Peeples, for defendant in error.

J. G. Brown vs. Seaborn Croley. Complaint from DeKalb.

McCAY, J.

If B purchase from A two parcels of land at the same time, and when they come to draw the writings, A suggests that B, to save the writing of two deeds, take a deed for one of the parcels from C, from whom A had purchased it but had not yet got titles, saying it would do just as well, and B consented, and there was in fact a mortgage on the land given by C, of which B was ignorant: Held, that B, who had the mortgage to pay, might, in a suit by A on one of the notes, given at the time, plead a failure of consideration to the amount of his damage.

Judgment affirmed.

Hill & Candler for plaintiff in error.

Wm. Ezzard for defendant in error.

Alfred Wooten, vs. Perry Wilkins. Case from Spalding.

McCAY, J.

1. In an action by a father for the seduction of his minor daughter, the dying declarations of the daughter, as to who was the father of her child are inadmissable, as evidence for the plaintiff.

2. Although this Court may not be entirely satisfied with a verdict of a jury, yet if the Court below refuse a new trial, this Court will not interfere to grant a new trial, unless the verdict be manifestly, the result of prejudice, mistake or corruption in the jury.

Judgment affirmed.

S. D. Irwin for plaintiff in error.

Doyal & Nunnally for defendant in error.

Emily T. Jackson, et al, vs. Jno. W. Corbin, et al. Motion to dissolve injunction from Spalding.

WARNER, J.

When I sold a tract of land to I, for fourteen hundred dollars, receiving five hundred dollars of the purchase money, and taking the note of I for the balance of the purchase money, and made a warranty deed to I, the purchaser, and afterwards died insolvent; and within a short time after the death of J, C, a judgment creditor of J, levied an execution upon the land in satisfaction of a judgment obtained against J, anterior to the sale of the land to I, and a bill was filed by the widow of J, in behalf of herself and her minor children, alleging the insolvency of her deceased husband, and claiming a year's support out of the nine hundred dollar note given for the land, as being the only property left for that purpose, and also alleging that if the land should be sold by the judgment creditor in satisfaction of his debt, the purchaser of the land would successfully defend the note as against her and her children, on the ground of failure of title, and thereby defeat her claim to her year's support out of the note given to her deceased husband for the land which is unpaid, and which is the only remaining estate left out of which she can obtain her year's support. Held: That it was error in the Court in dissolving the injunction upon the foregoing state of facts, inasmuch, as the widow was entitled to her year's support out of the nine hundred dollar note, and that the sale of the land should have been restrained until the rights and equities of the parties could be adjusted upon the final hearing of the cause, the purchaser of the land having been made a party to the bill.

Judgment reversed.

D. J. Bailey, S. D. Irvin, for plaintiffs in error.

Doyle & Nunnally, for defendants in error.

Center & Treadwell vs. L. H. Davis. Case from Fulton.

WARNER, J.

Where Davis, the landlord, on the 4th day of June, 1859, entered into a written contract with Center & Treadwell to rent to them a storeroom, then in the process of building, in the city of Atlanta, for the term of one year, for the sum of eight hundred dollars per annum, with the privilege of renting said storeroom for three additional years at the same rate, and Davis, the landlord, stipulated on his part to have said storeroom "well fitted up and ready for use, by the second Monday in August, 1859," and the tenants went into possession of the storeroom after its erection, occupied it for one year, and in pursuance of the original contract between the parties, rented the storeroom for another year. It also appears, from the record, that after the making of the rent contract, Davis, the landlord, proceeded to erect, over the storeroom rented to the plaintiffs, and over the adjoining storeroom, rented to another tenant, a boarding house and kitchen, the boarding house, in front of the building, and the kitchen over the back part thereof, and constructed a platform or walk over the valley between the two storerooms, leading from the boarding house so built over the storerooms to the kitchen, the landlord rented the boarding house, kitchen and fixtures so erected over the storerooms to another tenant, who occupied the same. These fixtures were erected by the landlord, when the plaintiffs renewed their lease for the second year, under the original contract. The evidence in the record shows that, in consequence of the erection by the landlord of the buildings and fixtures over the store room, and the use thereof by his tenants to whom he rented the same, the plaintiffs have been damaged by the water thrown upon their goods in the store room, to the amount of twelve hundred dollars, as assessed by five merchants called on for that purpose. Held, that inasmuch as the landlord stipulated in his contract, to have the store room well fitted up and ready for the use of the plaintiffs, that if he afterwards erected obstructions over the building which caused the plaintiffs to be injured, either by his own negligence, or that of his tenants or agents in the use thereof he is liable for the damages resulting therefrom.

Held, also, that the agreement of the tenants to make repairs, as stated in the record, extended only to ordinary repairs of the building, and did not extend to making repairs by removing permanent fixtures erected by the landlord, from which the injury to the plaintiff resulted.

The Court charged the jury: "But the law does not require the landlord to sweep the premises and keep them clean while the tenant is occupying them: this is the tenant's business if the house was properly built, and kept in repairs, and if being kept clean, no damages would have resulted, defendant is not liable. If the kitchen overhead was built after plaintiffs first went into the house, and they received their tenancy without objection after it was built, the trouble of sweeping and keeping clean the premises is no matter of which plaintiffs could afterwards complain." Held, that this charge of the Court in view of the facts of this case was error, and calculated to mislead the jury. The plaintiffs were only tenants of the store house which they rented, they were only bound to sweep and keep that clean, it was not their business, or duty, to sweep and keep clean the premises above them, which caused the damage, they had no legal right to go there for that purpose. The landlord was bound by his contract to keep the storehouse rented to the plaintiffs fit for the use for which he rented it to them, and if by obstructions placed there by himself, and used by his tenants, such obstructions rendered the storehouse unfit for the purposes for which it was rented, and damage resulted therefrom, the landlord is liable therefor, and the plaintiffs have the legal right to complain whenever damaged thereby, whether they renewed their tenancy under their original contract, after the creation of the obstructions by the landlord, or not.

Judgment reversed.

McCAY, J, concurred as follows:

A landlord who rents a portion of a tenement to A, is bound, either by himself or his other tenants, to keep the remainder of the building in such a condition as that the portion occupied by A, shall be tenantable, and if he fails, he is liable for the damages which A may receive from his neglect.

BROWN, C. J., dissenting.

In my opinion, the verdict and judgment in this case was right, and I cannot concur in the judgment of reversal.

The tenants elected to take the second lease for three years, with full knowledge that the kitchen and passway were over the store room, just as they remained, till the damage was done. And if the tenant who occupied the rooms over the store after the date of the second lease, negligently and wrongfully obstructed the gutter; so as to prevent the free passage of the water from the roof: and there was no defect in the roof or gutter, but while it was perfect, it was filled up with trash by the negligence of the tenants above he, and not the landlord, was liable for any damage that ensued by his negligence or his wrongful act. In that case, the obstruction placed in the gutter by the tenant above was a nuisance of which the tenant below had a right to complain, and if injured by it, he had a right to recover damages against the tenant above, for maintaining it to his injury.

The Code, section 2949, defines a nuisance to be "anything that worketh hurt, inconvenience, or damage to another; and the fact that the act done may otherwise be lawful does not keep it from being a nuisance."

If, then, the filling up of the gutter, which was perfect in itself, was caused by the negligence or the wrongful act of the tenant above, and was a nuisance; and it was not so filled when the tenant below took the second lease, the decision of this Court in the case, Vason vs. the City Council of Augusta, not yet reported, clearly fixes the liability on the tenant who maintained the nuisance, and not upon the landlord. In that case, this Court says: "A landlord who has leased premises to a tenant is not liable for a nuisance maintained upon the premises by the tenant during the lease, if the nuisance existed upon the premises when the lease was made, the landlord is liable. But if the tenant continues the nuisance after he obtains exclusive possession and control, he alone is liable for its continuance. As the landlord, under our statute, is liable for necessary repairs on the premises, if the nuisance grows out of his neglect to make the repairs, the tenant may make them, and set off the reasonable value against the rent due the landlord."

But it is objected, that the case just cited was a criminal proceeding against Vason, the landlord. So it was. But what difference does that make? What reason applies in favor of the exemption of the landlord in the one case, that does not in the other. If he who maintains a nuisance is subject to indictment and punishment for so doing; and is also subject to an action for damages by a person injured by the nuisance; where is the reason for the distinction between the two cases? With what propriety can it be contended that Davis was not liable to indictment for this nuisance, if it had resulted in general public injury, because he did not maintain it; and that his tenant was alone subject to punishment because he did maintain it; but that Davis was liable in damages to a particular individual injured by it? Are we to lay down the rule of law, that the tenant is liable criminally, because he alone maintains the nuisance; but that the landord is liable civilly, to an action for damages in case an individual is injured by the nuisance, which is maintained by the wrongful act of the tenant alone?

It is said the contract and the statute of the State, makes the landlord liable for all necessary repairs. Grant it. But how does this avail the plaintiffs in error? What repairs were wanted? There is no evidence that either the roof or the gutter was out of repair in the place where the injury occurred. They were perfect, and the damage resulted from the obstruction of the gutter, by the wrongful act of the tenant above. If there had been no obstruction in the gutter, there would have been no damage.

But admit that the cleaning out of the gutter was understood, by the parties, to be included in the necessary repairs of the roof; so understood it, and the verdict was still so included, I incline to think the parties (and while it was not, properly speaking, right. The evidence was in conflict, but there was positive testimony before the jury, that the plaintiffs in error called the attention of Davis, the landlord, to the condition of the roof, stating that it needed repairs, and that he told them to have the repairs made and charge to him, and they agreed to do it.

Now, if the cleaning out of the gutter was part of the repairs, and the tenants agreed to have them made, at the expense of the landlord, and they neglected it, he is not liable to them for the damage resulting from their own negligence. And as the jury, whose province it was to decide on the credibility and weight of the evidence, have found this issue for the landlord, and and the Judge who tried the case, is satisfied with the finding, we should not, in my opinion, disturb the verdict.

If this damage was the result of a nuisance, the tenant who maintained the nuisance, and not the landlord, was liable. But if it resulted from neglect to make proper repairs, the plaintiffs in error, who had a greed to have them made at the expense of the landlord, and had neglected to do so, have no right to recover from the landlord damages which resulted from their own neglect. In either view of this question, I think the judgment of the Court below ought to be affirmed.

ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES.

District of Columbia.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The Hon. A. H. Stephens, in writing to a friend here, says: "I am gratified at the result of the election in Virginia, and earnestly hope that Judge Dent may be elected in Mississippi."

Dr. C. P. Culver leaves for Macon to-morrow, for the purpose of placing the laboratory properly in the possession of the Georgia Agricultural Society.

The President, it is expected, will be here in time for the Cabinet meeting on Friday.

Mr. Greeley, with a party, has gone to Virginia.

Hoar contemplates being absent a week. Field will officiate during his absence.

The revenue to-day is $300,000.

Treasurer Spinner has received a counterfeit three dollar coupon from Germany, which was evidently manufactured there. The imitation of the engraving, signatures, seals, etc., is good, but the paper is bad.

Proceedings have been commenced against Schurman, (colored) former Messenger of the Treasury, for uttering bogus money. Turner, the negro Postmaster at Macon, is to be brought here as a witness.

Georgia.

SAVANNAH, July 27.—Crop reports, very encouraging.

AUGUSTA, July 27.—There was a heavy rain storm this evening.

The Constitutionalist states that a disguised party visited the jail at Appling, Columbia county, and took therefrom a negro man and woman, who were found dead on the road, Sunday morning. The negroes had a difficulty with a white family.

South Carolina.

CHARLESTON, July 27.—A negro riot, which, at one time, threatened very serious consequences, occurred last night, on the occasion of the departure of a visiting base ball club, from Savannah. The club was accompanied by a brass band, composed of colored men, who were said to be Democrats. As the club was leaving in procession, for the Savannah boat, they were attacked with sticks and showers of stones and brickbats, by a negro mob of several hundred men. Several shots were were fired on both sides.

Mayor Pillsbury was on the ground, but said he was powerless to quell the riot, and called on Major Oglesby, for the assistance of United States troops. The club was then escorted to the boat, between platoons of the 8th Infantry, followed by a large crowd of yelling and infuriated negroes, throwing stones and compelling the soldiers at intervals, to face about and threaten to fire. Several were wounded, mostly members of the colored band. The affair causes intense indignation among the whites.

New York.

BUFFALO, July 27.—Edward Halpin, an elderly man, fell into Niagara Falls, a distance of 180 feet, and was instantly killed.

England.

LONDON, July 27.—Gladstone is unwell, and Parliament was prorogued to the tenth of August.

The fault discovered in the cable of 1866, has been located 130 miles from Valentia.

Spain.

MADRID, July 27.—A party of Carlists were defeated by the volunteers at Tarascon. Offers of aid to put down the rebellion, come from all quarters of Spain, Espartero, also, offers his services.

Marine News.

CHARLESTON, July 27.—Arrived—Steamer Manhattan, from New York.

WILMINGTON, July 27.—Arrived—Empire, from New York. Weather fair with a light south wind. Thermometer 98.

SAVANNAH, July 27.—Arrived—Schooner Chas. Comery, from Bath; bark George and Isham, and schooner Enchantress, from New York.

☞ An English clergyman recently tried to persuade one of the black sheep of his flock to come to church, on the plea that he had seen his wife there on the previous Sunday. "I hope you'll try to come now, James." "Well, sir, I think I'll try, for our Mary says you're a hell of a preacher."

G. W. ADAIR, Auctioneer,

GREAT SALE OF LOTS AT WEST-END.

ON WEDNESDAY NEXT, the 28th day of July, at 4½ o'clock, I will sell on the premises, at West End Depot, twelve beautiful lots for residences and business houses, as shown by plats at my office. On lot No. 10 there is a nice new cottage—all the others are unimproved. These lots are at the business centre of the growing and prosperous young city of West-End, and will certainly greatly enhance in value in the future as in the past. Capitalists who desire to invest in such property, and business men who desire to make something beside rents for landlords, are requested to examine this property and attend the sale. Terms—One-half cash; remainder in 60 days.

Also, at the same time and place, I will sell for cash, a well-enclosed lot of 2¼ acres, in fine cultivation, having on it a genteel two-room house. It is about half a mile from West-End Depot, and about midway between the two Green's Ferry Roads, and known as the Boyd House.

AN EXTRA PASSENGER TRAIN

will leave the Railroad Crossing at 4 o'clock, precisely, to carry out the crowd, and return after the sale.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA:::::::::JULY 28.

Supreme Court--Evening Session.

Reported Expressly for The Constitution.

TUESDAY, July 27, 1869.

After the argument was concluded in Nos. 5 and 6, O. Rockwell, plaintiff in error, vs. D. G. Proctor, certiorari from Monroe, was argued by J. S. Pinckard, for plaintiff in error, and by the Reporter, representing A. D. Hammond, for defendant in error.

No. 7, is Geo. M. Rhodes, plaintiff in error, vs. Jas. Gallendat, et al, defendants in error Foreclosure of mortgage from Monroe.

A motion to dismiss the bill of exceptions for alleged defects therein, but was overruled. Pending the argument of the cause, upon motion of counsel for plaintiff in error, the record was withdrawn. A. D. Hammond, (by the Reporter,) J. S. Pinckard, for plaintiff in error. John J. Floyd.

No. 8, is H. & T. M. White, plaintiff in error, vs. The Newton Manufacturing Company, defendant in error. Assumpsit from Newton. Clarke & Pace, Stewart & Peeples, for plaintiffs in error. A motion was made to dismiss the bill of exemptions, because the agreed brief of the evidence was not embodied in the bill of exceptions. The case was dismissed.

This leaves no cause on the Flint Circuit, but No. 9, which is Miles G. Dobbins, plaintiff in error, vs. Chas. L. Dupree, defendant in error. Motion to set aside a judgment from Spalding. Speer & Black, Boynton & Disnuke, for plaintiff in error. Peeples & Stewart, for defendant in error. This cause is first in order on to-morrow morning, at ten o'clock.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH, HUNTER STREET.—Last week workmen were seen replacing timber, finishing foundation walls and getting work ready for the execution and completion of the building. The walls of the basement are of rock, main walls above are of brick handsomely pencilled down, the sides of which are divided into recessed pilasters. Between these pilasters will be situated the windows with circle heads. The ceiling will be twenty-two feet high, enriched by a handsome moulded plaster cornice. The belfry rises from the roof in the center of the front, which is surmounted with an octagon cupalo. The whole height, from the ground to the top of the vane, will be about seventy-five feet. The basement will be fitted up for Sunday school purposes, in which will be located the furnaces for heating the whole building. The audience room above will have eighty pews, capable of seating comfortably five hundred persons. The baptistery will be so constructed as to be entered through side doors behind the pulpit through the alcove from rooms on each side. These rooms will be entered by stairs from the basement. The vestibule will be constructed with doors swinging both ways. The entrance will have a large arched doorway, over which will be a large circle head window. The work is being carried out from the design of Mr. W. H. Parkins, architect. Messrs. Alexander & Broomhead are the brick contractors. Mr. Stewart superintends the carpenter work. Rev. F. P. Perdue is supplying this church for the present, and is a zealous minister and most exemplary man.

THE PROMENADE CONCERT.—The promenade concert last night, was a decided success. It was a season of enjoyment, and little estrangements were forgotten. Minds poisoned against one another, gave way, even though their hearts might be steeled. The effect upon all was decidedly beneficial, and the universal prayer was, that another such an occasion might be grant-ed, both old and young. There was a mingling of all professions in the promenade. We noticed Gen. Gordon, Colonel Clarke, Dr. Toxey, and others in it, all lending their aid to make the occasion interesting.

READING CLUB.—The Reading Club that was proposed to be organized last week at the residence of Mr. W. A. Tigner, on Peachtree street, will be organized to-night at his residence.

LUCY COBB INSTITUTE.—We acknowledge the reception of an invitation to attend the Concert by the pupils of Lucy Cobb Institute, at Athens, to-night, and regret that we cannot have the pleasure of attending it.

EXCURSION TICKETS.—We learn that B. W. Wrenn, General Ticket Agent at the Western and Atlantic Railroad, will sell to parties of ten or more, tickets to Lookout Mountain Hotel and return, for $7.

WEST END PROPERTY.—Col. Adair will sell valuable property at West End, this afternoon. Passenger car leaves the crossing, at 4 o'clock, to convey the crowd, to and from the sale.

A STITCH IN TIME SAVES NINE.—If you have a cough, do not neglect it; thousands go to an untimely grave by neglecting what they call "a slight cold." These slight colds are very insidious. They soon become deep-seated, and defy all remedies. DR. TUTT'S EXPECTORANT will cure it. It can be had of any druggist.

AN ANCIENT SNUFF-BOX.—Mrs. Frederick Augustus Heister, living in the vicinity of Galesburg, has a snuff-box which Frederick the Great, of Prussia, gave to her husband's great grandfather, Henry Melichor Muhlenberg, a Lutheran clergyman, born in Germany, and educated at Halle and Gottingen. He was the friend of Frederick the Great, and by him was presented with the fine porcelain snuff-box, trimmed with silver. Henry Melichor Muhlenberg was the first Lutheran clergyman who came to the United States, established the first church in Virginia. His son, Frederick Augustus Muhlenberg, of the Revolution, was also his son. Marie, the daughter of Frederick Augustus Muhlenberg, married John S. Heister, and their son, Frederick Augustus Heister, lately deceased, was the husband of the lady who has the snuff-box in question. She also has a large amount of old Continental money that her husband's grandfather received during the Revolution.

"FRESH AS A MAIDEN'S BLUSH," is the pure peachy complexion which follows the use of Hagan's Magnolia Balm. It is the True Secret of Beauty. Fashionable Ladies in Society understand this.

The Magnolia Balm changes the rustic Country Girl into a City Belle more rapidly than any other one thing.

Redness, Sunburn, Tan, Freckles, Blotches, and all effects of the Summer Sun, disappear where it is used. And a genial, cultivated, fresh expression is obtained which rivals the Bloom of Youth. Beauty is possible to all who will invest 75 cents at any respectable store, and insist on getting the Magnolia Balm.

THE MILL OF THE GODS.—The Pontotoc (Miss.) Miscellany says: "The mill of the gods grinds slow, but it grinds very fine." We learn that a meeting of freedmen was called in Pontotoc recently, by Mr. Flournoy, at which time he expected to address them in advocacy of social equality. As he was about to commence his speech, a telegram was handed him, conveying the intelligence of the murder of his son, Col. Flournoy, of Ga., by a freedman.

MUTUAL FIRE AND LIFE

Insurance Company,

MACON, GA.

Authorized Capital:::$500,000!

Certificate of authority issued by the Comptroller General, under Act of March 19, 1869, requiring one hundred thousand dollars capital.

COL. W. J. LAWTON, President, J. C. McBURNEY, Vice Pres't,

R. J. LIGHTFOOT, Secretary.

This Company is now prepared to issue all classes of Policies. In the Life Department it offers more liberal terms than any other company in the country.

It asks particular attention to the following prominent features:

1. It is a Home Company—a Southern Company, owned and managed by as able financiers as our State can produce.

2. All its policies are non-forfeiting, and so long as one dollar of premiums or dividends remain in the hands of the Company unearned, so long is the policy kept alive.

3. Its policies are incontestible, except for fraud.

4. Its policies contain no restrictions of either travel or occupation, and world-wide in its fullest sense.

5. As low a rate of premium as a due regard to safety will permit, and will compare with any other Mutual Company.

6. Thirty days grace allowed upon payment of renewal premiums, and the policy held good for that time.

7. One-half the premium remains a permanent loan on the policy, at legal interest, which loan it is confidently expected will be extinguished by dividends.

8. It is a Mutual Company; all the profits equitably divided among its policy holders.

9. Dividends declared annually, upon the contribution plan.

10. Females insured at same rates as males.

Feeling assured that the above features must commend this Company to the favorable consideration of the public, we respectfully ask an investigation of its merits, by those contemplating insurance, satisfied that we offer greater inducements than any other Company now extant.

Able Solicitors and local Agents wanted all over the country. Address,

J. C. McBURNEY,
Vice President, Macon, Ga.

DR. JOHN BULL'S Great Remedies.

DR. JOHN BULL,

Manufacturer and Vendor of the Celebrated

Smith's Tonic Syrup,

FOR THE CURE OF

AGUE AND FEVER,

OR

Chills and Fever.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to the plain testimony to the truth of the assertion that for no case whatever will it fail to cure, if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually, this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order; should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS will be sufficient.

Bull's Worm Destroyer.

To my United States and World-wide Readers.

I have received many testimonials from professional and medical men, as my almanacs and various publications have shown, all of which are genuine. The following letter from a highly educated and popular physician in Georgia, is certainly one of the most sensible communications I have ever received. Dr. Clement knows exactly what he speaks of, and his testimony deserves to be written in letters of gold. Hear what the Doctor says of BULL'S WORM DESTROYER:

VILLANOW, Walker Co., Ga., June 29, 1868.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: I have recently given your Worm Destroyer several trials, and find it wonderfully efficacious. It has not failed in a single instance to have the wished for effect. I am doing a pretty large country practice, and have daily use for some article of the kind. I am free to confess that I know of no remedy recommended by the ablest authors that is so certain and speedy in its effects. On the contrary, they are uncertain in the extreme. My object in writing you is to call upon what terms I can get the medicine direct from you. If I can get it upon easy terms, I shall use a great deal of it. I am aware that the use of such articles is contrary to the teachings and practice of a great majority of the regular line of M. D's, but I see no just cause or good sense in discarding a remedy which we know to be efficient, simply because we may be ignorant of its combination. For my part, I shall make it a rule to use all and any means to alleviate suffering humanity which I may be able to command—not hesitating because some one more ingenious than myself may have discovered its effects first, and secured the sole right to secure that knowledge. However, I am by no means an advocate or supporter of the thousands of worthless nostrums that flood the country, that purport to cure all manner of disease to which human flesh is heir. Please reply soon, and inform me of your best terms. I am, sir, most respectfully,

JULIUS P. CLEMENT M. D.

Bull's Sarsaparilla

A Good Reason for the Captain's Faith.

READ THE CAPTAIN'S LETTER AND THE LETTER FROM HIS MOTHER.

BENTON BARRACK'S, Mo., April 30, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and the healing and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case.

I was wounded two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not set up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is very much impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in anything else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, as obliged.

Capt. C. F. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.

P. S.—The following was written April 30, 1865, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Captain Johnson:

DR. BULL—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S. Johnson, was a skillful surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. F. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years of age he had a chronic diarrhœa and scrofula, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla, AT HIS REQUEST. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio and Iowa, for scrofula, fever sores and general debility. Perfect success has attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scrofula and fever sores were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son to again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is fearful of getting a spurious article, hence his writing to you for it. His wounds were terrible, but I believe he will recover.

Respectfully, JENNIE JOHNSON

BULL'S CEDRON BITTERS

AUTHENTIC DOCUMENT.

ARKANSAS HEARD FROM.

Testimony of Medical Men.

STONEY POINT, White Co., Ark., May 28, 1866.

DR. JOHN BULL—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.

My son-in-law, who was with me in the store, has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved.

Dr. Gifford, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—he improved very much by the use of your Bitters. In fact, the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines this fall, especially of your Sarsaparilla and Sure Pickett & Neely.

Respectfully, C. B. WALKER.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA :::::::: JULY 27.

BEAUTY AND CHIVALRY.

BY CORINNA.

For The Constitution.]

Are the days of Chivalry over?
Days of high renown and grace,
When the gallant, knightly lover
Gave to Beauty, pride of place;
Is the valor out of fashion,
With its soul so proud and clear,
Full of more than mortal passion,
That surrenders to a tear—
Yielding all beneath the skies—
All that men most dearly prize?

In the olden days, so golden—
In the distant far away—
Lived there men whose lives were holden
Merest trifles of the day;
Could they wear the silken tresses
Of a lady, proud and fair,
Little reck'd they of successes
More superbly grand and rare—
Little cared for sovereign sway,
And the honors of the gray.

Cleopatra's wondrous story
Is engraven on the page,
That presents the rival glory
Of Aspasia's golden age;
By the magic spell and power
Of a woman's witching smile,
Yielded Antony's evil hour
To the siren of the Nile—
And the other —— on his knees,
Plead the prouder Pericles!

Beauty's smile is ever blending
With the light of brightest deeds,
And a lustre never ending,
Shines upon fair Honor's meeds.
In these silken days of ours,
Seldom Chivalry is seen,
But when thorns invade the flowers,
And disturb the laurels green,
Then, he comes, with glittering glaive,
And invokes the God of the brave!

City and Suburban Affairs.

Supreme Court—Morning Session.

Reported Expressly for The Constitution.]

TUESDAY, July 26, 1869.

After delivery of opinions in cases argued last week were delivered, argument was resumed by Col. Peeples for plaintiff in error in No. 5, Flint Circuit. L. G. Chambliss vs. O. C. Phelps. Homestead, from Monroe.

Pending this speech court, adjourned until 3 o'clock P. M.

"ON A BENDER."—Quite a crowd of young men went to Conyers' this morning, on a fishing frolic.

POSTPONED.—The prize belt exhibition of the Anglo-Saxon Gymnastic Club, has been postponed until to-morrow night, so as not to interfere with the Promenade Concert given to-night by the Ladies' Memorial Association. The boys deserve to be remembered for their gallantry.

THE PROMENADE TO-NIGHT.—Let their be a rousing attendance at the Promenade Concert to-night. The noble object for which it is given should enlist the cordial and united support of every patriotic citizen.

SEASONABLE.—Between twelve and one o'clock to-day, Atlanta was blessed with a fine shower of rain. For the past few days our farmers have been visited with glorious rains, and vegetation vastly benefited thereby.

"TUNNEL HILL AMATEURS."—A concert will be given by the above band at the Tunnel Hill Academy, on the 30th inst., for the benefit of the Tunnel Hill Sabbath School. The programme embraces "Romance under Difficulties" Popping the Question" and "Slasher and Crasher," with music by the orchestra. We wish the young ladies and gentlemen connected with the enterprise, success.

CORRECTION.—We are requested to state by Mr. M. J. Hinton that the house and lot on Decatur street, is not all of his property, but that he returns a tract of "wild land" in Morgan county, valued at $800 or $1,000; another near Tilton at $800; and has real estate in Mobile valued at $5,000. We make the statement, as we would not willingly misrepresent any one. But according even to the amended statement, it only makes the value of his property, above homestead exemption, to be $3,600; for the Mobile property being outside of the State, cannot be considered as held by the bond. According to our present information, the bondsmen of Foster Blodgett are not worth $100,000.

DECLAMATION BY W. M. BRAY'S SCHOOL.—Last night the room at the City Hall formerly used by the Legislature as the Hall of the House of Representatives, was filled with a large crowd of ladies and gentlemen to listen to the declamation by the pupils of W. M. Bray's school. The boys, every one did exceedingly well, not one having to be prompted. The following are the speakers and subjects:

Jacob Menko, Old Iron Sides; J. F. Connally, The Soldier of the Legion; W. H. Howard, The Gathering Song; J. F. Ryan, Vengeance; J. Menko, Battle of Warsaw; J. T. Connolly, Semphronius for War; J. S. Wallace, Bernado and King Alphonso; W. S. Brown, The Vulture of the Alps; A. S. Ryan, The Sailor Boy's Dream; J. O. Collier, Bonnie Blue Flag; F. Wooding, Extract from Hayne; A. C. Gunby, Grattan's reply to Corry; J. S. Cook, The Seminole's Reply; J. A. Johnson, Bernadon del Carpio; S. W. Beach, An Appeal to Arms; N. C. Williams, Cataline on Banishment; C. M. Brown, Power of Eloquence; E. K. Reynolds, Rienzi's Address to the Romans; I. W. Cook, Effects of the Exclusive System on Ireland; W. B. Walker, The South; C. R. Gaskill, Spartacus to the Roman Envoys; C. B. Gaskill, Spartacus to the Gladiators, and W. R. Brown, The Madman.

"The Sailor Boy's Dream" was rendered finely by S. A. Ryan.

C. R. Gaskill and C. B. Gaskill, sons of Col. V. A. Gaskill, elicited rapturous applause by their excellent declamation of "Spartacus to the Roman Envoys" and "Spartacus to the Gladiators." They were complimented by a number of bouquets being thrown on the stage to them.

"The Madman," a rather difficult piece to declaim, was rendered so life-like and naturally by W. R. Brown, that he was loudly cheered and received boquets.

The best speaker, in our opinion, is W. B. Walker, son of Mat. Walker. His declamation of "The South" was magnificent, and received demonstrations of warm approval in the shape of plaudits and boquets.

Professor Bray ought to feel proud of his pupils. They reflect honor upon him as a teacher. We have never seen a class of any age, as a whole, do so well as they did.

☞ Radical's favorite hymn:

"I love to steal a pile away,
And in every office share,
To spend the hour of setting day
In humble, grateful prayer."

☞ A Sacramento bard, who is said to sing like a "Government mule," has got on the following:

The turkey buzzard's a fragrant bird,
An' so's the perary dorg:
The killilo, he sings so sweet,
An' so dus a ole bull frog.

☞ When the Princess of Metternich was about leaving Paris the other day, she submitted to her husband a dressmaker's bill for 112,000 francs. He paid it. Then she brought out a milliner's bill for 2,230 francs. "My dear," said the Prince, as he opened his purse again, "I have noticed that in proportion as your bonnets diminish in size, the price of them increases.—One of these mornings we shall have the milliner bringing nothing but the bill."

WANTED IMMEDIATELY.—Any quantity of "whippings and scourgings" of negroes in the South by inhuman whites, for use in the approaching elections. Apply at the office of the Union League.—N. Y. Herald.

SIMMONS' LIVER REGULATOR OR
Medicine for Dyspepsia, Headache, Jaundice, Costiveness, Camp Dysentery, Sick Headache, Chronic Diarrhœa, Affections of the Bladder and Kidneys, Fever, Nervousness, Piles, Diseases of the Skin, Impurity of the Blood Melancholy or Depression of Spirits
Most of the ailments here enumerated have their origin in a diseased liver, which is the most prevalent affection in this country, and as in many cases the patient is not within the reach of a physician, it requires that some remedy should be provided that would not in the least impair the constitution, and yet be active and safe. That such is the character of the SIMMONS REGULATOR there can be no doubt, which the testimony of hundreds will establish.
SYMPTOMS OF A DISEASED
LIVER.
Pain in the side. Sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade is mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternating with fax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred when few of them existed, yet examination of the body after death has shown the Liver to have been extensively deranged.
It should be used by all persons, old and young, whenever any of the foregoing symptoms appear. It is a purely vegetable compound, is not injurious to the most delicate constitutions, and will keep the liver in healthy action if used properly.
Persons living in unhealthy localities may avoid all bilious attacks by taking a dose occasionally to keep the liver in healthy action.
Regulator
For children complaining of colic, headache, or sick stomach a teaspoonful or more will give relief. Children, as well as adults, eat sometimes too much supper or eat something which does not digest well, producing sour stomach, heart-burn, or restlessness; a good dose will give relief. This applies to persons of all ages.
Many persons, from eating too much, are restless at night, or in day time hungry, wool-gathering, can't understand what they read, can't keep their thoughts on any one subject so as to reason well, or become fretful. One or two tablespoonful will give relief.
Jaundice.—Take enough Regulator after eating each meal to produce one full action from the bowels every day.
Pregnant ladies will find sure relief from their headache, cos.iveness, swimming in the head, colic, sour stomach, restlessness, etc., etc.

DR. HUNTER
CONTINUES to treat all private diseases, Syphilis in all its forms, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Orchitis, and all urinary diseases, and the effects of misery are completely eradicated; Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, resulting from self-abuse or other causes, and which produces some of the following effects: as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, constipation, averse to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally prostration of the vital powers, can be fully restored to health. Persons afflicted with this, or any other delicate, intricate, or long-standing constitutional complaint, should give the Doctor a trial.
He never fails.
The Doctor publishes a medical circular that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases, that can be had free at his office, or by mail for one stamp. It gives a clear delineation of all the diseases and conditions resulting from the infringement of the moral laws, with the treatment, experience, and impediments in married or single life. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the peculiar nature of their complaints.
The establishment is reporting the ample rooms, & every attention is paid to patients.
When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicine can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in most all cases, personal attendance is unnecessary. Office and residence on Peachtree street, first door south of junction of each; patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in this Doctor's own office, and under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets free or by mail for two stamps.
